

After Mom Gets Some Books, Then I'll Make a Selection': A 5-Year-old ELL's Decision-making in Book-related Home Play Research.

'After Mom Gets Some Books, Then I'll Make a Selection': 5-Year-old ELL's Decision-making in Book-related Home Play Research.

Source: Studies in Self-Access Learning Journal . Dec2015, Vol. 6 Issue 4, preceding p332-351. 21p.

Author(s): Park, Heeyang

Abstract:

The main theme of this article is examining the active role that young English language learners (ELLs) play in making choices that affect their own language learning and research participation. I will consider the growing emphasis on Second Language Acquisition (SLA) on the importance of exploring children's perspectives about their participation in language development as a second language. The first part of this article discusses the new paradigm in child SLA of the voices of young children in research rather than overlooks their agency in favor of an adult perspective, and describes an exploratory case study of a 5-year-old Korean- English learner and illustrates how a very young ELL acts as an active research participant in engaging English storybooks as self-access resources in the child's spontaneous

Copyright of Studies in Self-Access Learning Journal is the property of Kanda University of International Studies and may not be copied or emailed to multiple sites or posted to a listserv without the copyright holder's express written permission. However, users may print, download, or email articles for individual use. This abstract may be abridged. No warranty is made for the accuracy of the copy. Users should refer to the original published version of the material for the full abstract.

For access to this entire article and additional high quality information, please check with your college/university library, public library, or affiliated institution.

