Helping health workers learn: a book of methods, aids and ideas for instructors at the village level.

Author(s): Werner, D.; Bower, B.

Abstract: A new approach to the training, role and responsibilities of community health workers (CHWs) is proposed in this book, emanating from ideas and methods developed through informal networks of community based health programmes. More specifically it is based on 16 years of experience with a villager-run health programme in Aj...
Mexico, the Project Piaxtla. It offers a collection of methods and aids for use by village instructors. Part 1 looks at approaches to planning and carrying out a training programme for CHWs; part 2 gives ideas for bringing learning to life and proposes an effective training programme for CHWs; part 3 gives suggestions for helping people learn to use the health care handbook (where there is no doctor), applying to any health or 'how-to-do-it' manual; part 4 deals with the activities with mothers and children, as an important part of health work; part 5 treats health in relation to food, land and social problems.
