

Imagery in Elizabethan and Jacobean drama: suggestions for a new approach

Foakes, R. A. (1952)

Ph.D. thesis, University of Birmingham.

Abstract

In the first part of this dissertation the theoretical and critical literature on imagery is surveyed. A large number of writings on imagery is considered and some proposals made for a wider definition of dramatic imagery and a new concept of dramatic imagery is put forward. This leads to a new approach to the criticism of poetic drama. The second part of the dissertation consists of an analysis of the dramatic imagery of five plays.
