| Title: | O. A. C. Review Volume 40 Issue 2, October 1927 |
| Author: | Ontario Agricultural College |
| Abstract: | The agricultural articles in this issue pertain to the history of agriculture in the United States, utilizing the beaver in the fur industry, and the food science of powdered skim milk. Seasonal articles include a review of the grand champions at the fall fairs, and a report on the new livestock building for the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair. Continued in this issue is the column regarding the National Federation of Canadian University Students, with a focus on the benefits of membership in the International Confederation. Campus news reports on the initiation of the freshmen, the need for a portrait painting of past President Creelman, and the rugby games. The Alumni column provides an update of alumni activities, and the occupations of the Class of 1927 alumnae. This issue does not contain a Macdonald column. |
