Promises not kept: the betrayal of social change in the Third World.

Author(s) : Isbister, J.

Book : Promises not kept: the betrayal of social change in the Third World. 1991 ref.7pp. of Abstract : Despite many promises to eradicate poverty, it remains a serious problem in many developing countries today. This book argues that the persistence of poverty is the result of policies implemented and decisions taken by world leaders in developed and industrialized countries. It highlights their rise to power on promises for social development which results, in time, in the development of 'life threatening' conditions. The modernization, dependency and Marxism are also reviewed in this context. regions under study include Vietnam, China, Algeria, the Indian subcontinent East and Latin America.
