Remark:

This book is almost identical with the 1940 edition that I have labeled as a first edition. I note three changes. First, it has dropped First edition on the verso of the title-page. Secondly, it has changed from a bright red and gold dust jacket to the orange and tan colors that succeeding editions follow -- and that the book itself follows. Thirdly, the flyleaves contain the same text, but now it is differently set. Mike apparently found the book among those that were being processed for giving away. Good find, Mike!
